On November 4, 2009, fifty-one participants from international financial institutions, major accounting and law firms, academia, media, and research and policy institutions, participated in a colloquium entitled "Governance of Financial Institutions." Seventeen who chaired or do chair relevant regulatory agencies were among them as were all the speakers listed above. A Report that summarizes the views expressed at the colloquium will be published on the day of the discussion and will be the focus of the panel discussion.
